

Hi, everyone. My name is Bryttani here in Pickerington Ohio.

I'm a mother of two under two and a bonus mother to three children.

Last year, during COVID, my bonus son and I started a group, Black Boys Read.

During that time, we identified a book for he and his friends to read together, and we focused on reading comprehension.

All of the boys are student athletes, but we really wanted to hone in on reading comprehension during the summer to prepare them for the next grade. During the Black Boys Read circle, we also encouraged each boy to read aloud.

So we could help with their fluency and encourage and support each other.

The boys really enjoyed it. The parents of the group really enjoyed it, and it only took about an hour out of our week to sit together, to read together, to learn together, because literacy and education is important.

I hope you all continue to tune into my videos.

Thank you.
