Making NNPS Your Own

October 26, 2022, Part 1

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

CENTER ON EDUCATION AND TRAINING FOR EMPLOYMENT

What is your district mascot?

- What makes you YOU?
- What sets you apart?
- What is your way?

Core Values

Excellence

In transformative high-impact teaching, research, and service devoted to our students and community

Justice

In our plans, actions, and outcomes especially in the face of challenging circumstances and in the absence of agreement

Diversity

In creating a community that is inclusive and equitable in representation, language, action, and behavior

Innovation

In a continuous process of discovery that is solution focused and community based

Internationalization

In cultivating an academic community with global awareness and engagement

Agenda

- Welcome! What is your district mascot?
- Brief overview
- Our Why: The Partnership Approach - fit for Ohio
- Conversation with Dr. Joyce Epstein
 - Making the NNPS approach your own
- Five Ohio districts share their approach
 - Praise, Question, Suggestion
- Concluding remarks and next steps
- Meeting feedback survey

5 Whys

- Why: we value benefits of family engagement
- Why: what we have done in the past has not benefited all students
- Why: we need an effective approach we can sustain and that will be district-wide
- Why: we will be able to adapt and adjust our family partnership practices in the future to changes in school personnel, students and families.
- Why: we will improve outcomes for all students

Why Ohio
Chose NNPS

- Evidence-based
- Flexible for learning environments
- Flexible based on each school's goals
- Implementing partnership programs and practices to engage all families
- Can be expanded, continuously improved, & sustained locally

Ohio's
Partnership
Approach:
An armature....a strong, lasting foundation
