

Multi-Tiered Family Engagement

Individual Professionals Path: Level 2

Schools often organize their work into tiers – Universal Tier 1 strategies for all students, Tailored Tier 2 strategies for subsets of students, and Individual Tier 3 strategies for a few students. By centering families’ strengths, needs, and preferences, schools can also use a tiered approach to planning for family engagement. The seminar is delivered in three learning blocks through a flipped instructional model. For each block, you will first complete a self-paced online module to build your background knowledge of multi-tiered family engagement. Then you will join an instructor-led online workshop session to apply knowledge to your school or program. The process will repeat for two learning blocks.

Learning Objectives:

- I can describe different tiers of support for family engagement.
- I can describe the roles for families in a multi-tiered approach to family engagement.
- I can determine family needs and opportunities for engagement at each tier.
- I can determine school response and support strategies at each tier.
- I can explain why and how nondominant populations engage with schools to support their children.
- I can determine decision indicators for revising and adapting practices to center families’ needs and preferences.

Outcome: The outcome of this seminar is to create a multi-tiered plan for family engagement to support student learning and development in your setting.
